Saint Mary's golfer named All-American Scholar

Julia Adams (Jr., Peoria Heights, Ill./Notre Dame HS) has been named a 2003-2004 Division-III All-American Scholar by the National Golf Coaches Association (NGCA). The organization requires a candidate to have a cumulative academic year GPA of 3.50 or higher, and for the student-athlete to have played in two-thirds of their team's regularly scheduled competitive rounds during the academic year.

Adams has been on the Academic Honor's List (minimum 3.40 GPA) at Saint Mary's for each of her six semesters at the College and is ranked among the top students in her class. On the golf course, Julia had the second lowest scoring average on the team this past year with an 84.90, behind only 2003 National Champion and teammate Stefanie Simmerman. In ten of thirteen matches this past year she was the Belles top or second placing golfer including a tie for fifth place at the fall semester MIAA conference championship won by Saint Mary's, and a 40th place at the 2004 NCAA Division-III championships where the Belles placed eighth in the country.
