

Education Department Study Abroad Guide

The only time for an Education major to go abroad is in the sophomore year, either fall or spring semester. Education majors take core classes both semesters of junior year, fall semester of senior year, and they student teach full time in the spring semester of senior year. Education majors can't go anywhere for a full year, or they will not graduate on time. None of the study abroad programs fulfill Education course requirements for either the Elementary or Secondary Education major. All study abroad programs offer Sophia requirements not met by Education courses.
