

Gender & Women's Studies Department Study Abroad Guide

1. What semester/year can/should GWS students go abroad?

Any time in sophomore year or fall semester of junior year would work. GWS majors should come back for the GWS 360: Doing Feminism research methods class in the spring of their junior year.

2. What are the pre-requisites for studying abroad, if any?

We don't have any pre-requisites.

3. Which programs offer major/minor courses that have been approved in the past? List those courses for each program.

GWS students have been to South Korea, South Africa, and Spain, among others. Some study abroad programs offer GWS classes, and if we see the syllabus, we can approve them to count toward our major.

4. What short-term programs do you recommend?

Any short-term program will be valuable to students, so we recommend all of them.
